To Our Valued Customer,

The US energy and petrochemical industries have reached a crisis of epidemic proportion. The lack of a sensible energy policy has led to shortages and unprecedented escalation of energy and petrochemical feedstock prices.

Raw materials now accounts for over 70% of the cost of producing BOPP. The energy cost of our process and the cost of transporting the product almost doubled last year and remained undiminished even with our increase in efficiencies and huge economy-of-scale. It is imperative that these cost escalations are understood and passed on fully along the supply chain for the industry to remain viable.

Effective with shipments on or after July 7, 2008, prices for all AmTopp BOPP films will be increased by US$ 0.08 per pound.

If you have any questions on the new prices, please contact your AmTopp Sales or Customer Service Representatives.

We appreciate your understanding and thank you for your continued support.

Yours sincerely
