To Our Valued Customer,

With world crude oil price continue increasing, PP (polypropylene) resin prices had started to move up rapidly, as are other costs of doing business. The situation is not helped by the recent weather-related shutdown of refineries in Texas, which further aggravated the propylene shortage. It is imperative we pass on these cost increases to remain financially viable.

Effective with shipments on or after May 23, 2011 prices for all AmTopp BOPP films will be increased by US$ 0.12 per pound.

If you have any questions on the new prices, please contact your AmTopp Sales or Customer Service Representatives.

We appreciate your understanding and thank you for your continued support.

Yours sincerely
