To Our Valued Customer,

The recent crude oil crisis has unleashed an avalanche of price escalations in the hydrocarbon industries which are both epidemic and unprecedented. As a convertor of PP resin to OPP film, we find it increasingly difficult to secure raw material at reasonable cost to continue to conduct our business normally.

We find it impossible for us to continue to hold our pricing fixed quarterly as required by our index-price base agreements without incurring substantial financial loss. We have contemplated declaring force majeure to relieve us of such obligation. By doing so, we fully recognize the long-term implications on our mutual desire to keep our pricing mechanism in a rational and predictable manner.

Instead, we respectfully request you to consider granting us an interim relief for an in-between quarter price increase, a provision provided for in our agreement, but rarely asked for if not for the current unusual circumstances.

Specifically, we are requesting an increase of $ 0.08/lb, effective August 1, 2008. Of course, the next quarterly adjustment on October 1, 2008 will be based on the usual calculation on the July 1, 2008 price.

Your AmTopp Sales Representative will make an appointment to see you shortly to discuss how this can be implemented.

We appreciate your understanding and thank you for your continued support.

Yours sincerely
