To Our Valued Customer,

With propylene monomer in short supply and pricing surging forward, PP (polypropylene) resin price is expected to rise another 20% this summer. Indeed the cumulative increases of PP resin price since January 2009 is over 50%. It is imperative we pass on the raw material cost to remain viable.

Effective with shipments on or after September 14, 2009, prices for all AmTopp BOPP films will be increased by US$ 0.10 per pound.

If you have any questions on the new prices, please contact your AmTopp Sales or Customer Service Representatives.

We appreciate your understanding and thank you for your continued support.

Yours sincerely
